Editorial

This is my last issue of JoSIT as editor. I set up the journal in 1997 and for ten years published it through Edith Cowan University. For the past 10 years it has been published by Emerald. Twenty years is a long time to be an editor and I have had great satisfaction seeing the journal go from strength to strength as an international journal.

I want to thank the wonderful editorial review board for all the work they have done for the journal over the years. When JoSIT started back in 1997 I asked academics I respected to get involved and it is pleasing to see how their careers have developed. The people at Emerald have been great to work with and I want to thank them for their support over the past ten years.

JoSIT has published many leading edge papers. There have been many Special Issues that have added to its reputation. The growing downloads and citations are validation that JoSIT has a place in the academic publishing world. The papers are truly international in origin.

It is a good time to hand over the Journal to the new editors. I am sure, with their guidance, that JSIT will continue to make progress.
